

Banners

Whether for your Facebook page, your website or your YouTube channel, you need banners that represent you to the world. But don't worry, you aren't in this alone! Our friends at GoAnimate.com have recommended some of their favorite sites for creating banners:

GIMP

While it can be used for drawing, enhancements and processing images, GIMP, free image editing software for Windows and Mac, can also be used for creating banners. Its tools include pencils, airbrushing and blending, plus there is an advanced path tool for you tech geniuses out there!

Bannersnack

Compatible with AOL, Google and others, Bannersnack is an easy to use online app designed specifically for creating web banners. Just upload your images in to the editor and you are ready to go. If you don't mind their watermark, you can create a gif banner free of charge.

My Banner Maker

My Banner Maker is simple to use as it walks you through five steps in order to create a basic banner: Choose your desired size, fill it with color or your own image, add text or a border then save. Banners can be used on Facebook, YouTube or downloaded to your computer. Free banners can be created with a watermark which can be removed if you choose the paid option.

Bannernow

Bannernow is a web-based Flash banner maker that allows you to choose from a list of common banner sizes or create your own custom size. You can add slides and backgrounds along with special effects, buttons and icons. You can choose from their selections or upload your own.

EximiousSoft Banner Maker

EximiousSoft Banner Maker's designed for making gif banner ads, buttons, headers and other web graphics. It comes with 200+ templates, thousands of icons and symbols, plus several gradients and visual effects. You can even draw your own images and it supports layers. This is a software based program with a free trial so you can see if it's right for you.

Banner Designer Pro

Banner Designer Pro has a full suite of tools for making web banners. It works similarly to Paint and is Google Adwords compatible. There are preselected sizes to choose from or the ability to create your own. It allows for animated backgrounds and looping or rotating banners in the same spot. Banner Designer Pro is also a software program with a free trial. Now get out there and spiff up your web pages!
